

Alexander Tanri S.H.

Email: alextanri@ijrs.or.id

Short Profile

Alexander Tanri S.H., or usually called Alex, is a law graduate from the Faculty of Law of Universitas Indonesia. Alex currently acts as research assistant at IJRS. Alex has interests in issues relating to criminal justice reform. Alex is involved in several programs, including Research on Impacts from RKUHP to Criminal Procedural Law, Drafting of PERMA on Guideline for Adjudicating Narcotics Cases, and Monitoring and Evaluation of Sentencing Guideline.

Current Position

Researcher

Pendidikan

1. Bachelor of Law from Universitas Indonesia

Work Experiences

1. Researcher at Narasi TV (2022)
2. Enumerator at IJRS for Indexation of Narcotics Court Decisions Using Articles 111-116 and Article 127 (2020)

Current IJRS's Programs

1. Research Assistant for Research on Impacts from RKUHP to Criminal Procedural Law, TAF-AIPJ (2023)
2. Research Assistant for Drafting of PERMA on Guideline for Adjudicating Narcotics Offenses, OSF (2022)
3. Research Assistant for Monitoring and evaluation of Sentencing Guideline, OSF (2023)